GUIDELINES

Royal City Farmers' Market ("RCFM") is committed to providing an area for artists to showcase their works and connect with potential buyers. RCFM realizes that artists may not be able to afford stalls at our markets, and we have developed a Community Art Initiative, called "Art in the Park" to assist artists meet with their audiences during market hours. This area will be suitable for artists who are working without an expectation of profit. Artists are encouraged to bring works in progress and to set up their supplies so that potential buyers may see the artist in action. The following guidelines apply:

- RCFM will provide artists with an area to set up.
- Artists must provide their own furnishings, tents, and other items required to set up.
- Art in the Park will be adjacent to, but not contained within, the current market area.
- Art in the Park will be provided free of charge to artists who have registered.
- Art in the Park be offered on a first-come-first –served basis each week.
- In the case of inclement weather, artists may choose to come or not at their discretion with no penalty.
- There will be no assigned spaces; however, artists are required to register with RCFM prior to coming to ensure we have enough space for all interested artists.
- Artists will be asked to sign up as an individual member of the RCFM at $10 annually, in order to be covered by our insurance.
- Artist collectives or guilds are generally acceptable, and will be approved on a case-by-case basis.
- No offensive art will be allowed, and what is deemed offensive shall be at the discretion of the RCFM board.
- The RCFM reserves the right to disallow an artist.
- Application is not a guarantee that a space will be available.
